The MS Data Science is a joint professional program between the Statistics and Computer Sciences Departments at UW-Madison and is administered by the Statistics Department. Graduates seek employment as data analysts and data scientists or pursue further education in data science, statistics, computer science, or related quantitative and computational fields.

Questions? Email msdatascience@stat.wisc.edu

Students in this program will take coursework in:

- Statistical theories and methodologies
- Computer systems and algorithms
- Machine learning
- Electives from Statistics, Computer Sciences, and other partner departments

New program beginning Fall 2022
Application deadline
July 15, 2022